- In my scripts, I selected a specific set of source files from my adjusted collectFiles.py script. tried to use only files that had the C++, Java, C, and Kotlin language extensions and were not used for testing purposes.
- Developer Matthew Rollings was the most consistent from week 0 to week 240 of the project
- Overall, developers Matthew Rollings and Scott Alexander-Brown touched the source files the most
- In recent weeks, developers Artsem Kurantsou and Scott Alexander-Brown have touched the source files the most
- Developers Mohammed Ezzat, Andy Barber, and aippisch could have left the project because they don't touch the source files after less than 60 weeks
- From weeks 350 to 470 since the repo creation, no one has changed the source files
- Git branch and git checkout were useful during the lab to create and switch to branches.
